

We are an Australian provider of marketing services with real world expertise in the business to business sector specializing in telemarketing for appointment setting and lead generation. We are looking for qualified sales professionals to set sales appointments in Australia for both domestic and international franchises. If you are that rare individual who has the ability to shape the selling structure and culture of a growing company, then a very lucrative business opportunity awaits you.

If you have a comprehensive background in selling or appointment setting, plus a willingness to take those skills to market, you have our attention. Our ideal candidates have:

1. An intense desire to create an autonomous, work-from-home business
2. High-speed internet access
3. A land-line phone equipped with VoIP, if possible
4. Broad knowledge of Australia and its culture
5. An extensive understanding of strategic sales/pipeline management as explained here: [REDACTED]
6. Completed all oDesk.com tests for the Sales/Marketing category
7. A proven record of accomplishment as an outbound sales agent
8. Excellent written and verbal communication skills
9. A dynamic, outgoing, and assertive personality

Candidates may work from anywhere in the world, as long as they are able to generate sales calls to Australia during Australian working hours.

This opportunity is not designed for everyone. We are only seeking interested, tenacious, highly motivated, and experienced individuals meeting the above requirements. In order to succeed you will need to be a creative thinker and infectiously enthusiastic.

The selected candidate will be afforded the opportunity to earn up to $150 AUD ($138 USD) for each booked appointment. Your compensation will be tied directly to your success. Interested, motivated, and qualified? Then let us speak to you about your future. Please forward a current resume to:
